

As a small hub airport, Santa Barbara is the busiest airport along the California coast between Los Angeles and San Jose. There is non-stop service between ten international airports:

San Francisco, Dallas, Denver, Portland, Phoenix, Seattle, Las Vegas, San Jose, Salt Lake City and Los Angeles.

Connections between these airports from domestic and international cities provide those flying into and out of Santa Barbara with more than 300 single-stop possibilities. Jet service is available between all non-stops with the exception of San Jose.

Remember to arrive at least 90 minutes prior to flight departure time (2 hours for international travel).

Currently the Airport serves over 800,000 passengers annually. An airline terminal improvement project is underway to provide facilities that will accommodate present and future air transportation needs.
